More Concerts Rock Montclair: Grandparents Who Rock & The Bloomingfields

As you probably know, Parents Who Rock threw a kids' concert last weekend at Montclair High School to raise money for the nationwide, locally based Little Kids Rock organization. Even though there were three concerts on that day, PWR's concert was packed. PWR diva Alma Schneider says, "Turnout was huge--around 300 people. Kids were running and dancing around the entire auditorium. We had a healthy kid's cafe, and Mama Doni was like the Pied Piper with a long line of kids following her around yelling, 'Oy vey!'"

She reports they raised $5,000.

To help them reach their donation goals, PWR is throwing another adults-only concert tonight at Diva Lounge. This one is called Grandparents Who Rock.

Woot: Our Interview with Dan Zanes

I'm not embarrassed. I am a huge Dan Zanes fan. I don't need to pretend that I have Alison Krauss on my iPod. Dan Zanes does it for me. Oh, and my kids dig him, too. We're groupies who have seen him 8 times. It will be 9 this Sunday at the Wellmont for his Montclair Pre-K benefit show.

Call me a soggy graham cracker. But Dan Zanes' music is real music. He covers American folk, rock, gospel and gets all multi-cultural. His music makes me--and my kids-- happy.

And unlike Alison Krauss or Coldplay, Dan Zanes talked to me on the phone for MontclairKids.
